Art Unit: 1714

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 10-16 and 18-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Matabayas et al (WO 98/29499).

Rejection is maintained for reason of record and following response.

Again, the examiner's position is that the polyester resin composition having layered phyllosilicate of Matabayas et al inherently meets the recited properties and applicant failed to show otherwise. An invention in a product-by-process is a product, not a process. See In re Brown, 459 F2d 531, 173 USPQ 685 (CCPA 1972) and In re Thorpe, 777 F2d 695, 697, 227 USPQ 964 (Fed. Cir. 1985).

Also, applicant asserts that comparative examples 11-13 of Matabayas et al show that layered phyllosilicate is not sufficiently dispersed in a polymer. However, said comparative examples use a method of mixing by melt, not by using a dispersing medium such as ethylene glycol taught at page 10, lines 3-15, and thus such assertion has little probative value.

Applicant further asserts that the table 1 on page 9 of the declaration filed on September 21, 2004 would overcome the rejection, however, various deficiencies for said declaration had been pointed out in the office action mailed on December 6, 2004 and applicant failed to traverse. Furthermore, applicant asserts the superior properties such as flexural strength and mold releasing ability, but such properties are claimed and the actual showing is broader than the claimed invention.

Process claim 8 is allowed.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
